Community Services Centres

In the Lodzkie Region a significant increase in the demand for social and health services has been observed in recent years, which is characteristic not only for our region, but also for the whole country and other European countries.

This is mainly related to the depopulation and ageing of our region's population.

Community Service Centres

What does old age look like in Lodzkie?

- is a woman - the feminisation of old age,
- she's a widow - singularization,
- with a single source of income - a decrease in income, a one-person household,
- with decreasing efficiency - deterioration of health condition.

Community Services Centres

Due to the scale of the phenomenon, it is crucial to support both the national and local budgets with additional funds.

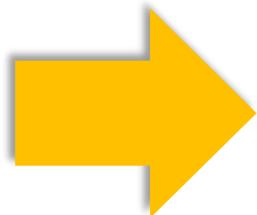

Thanks to the current financial perspective for 2014-2020, it is possible to finance social and health services provided in the local environment for the first time from EU funds (Regional Operational Programme of the Lodzkie Region for 2014-2020).

Community Service Centres

Community Service Centres are a relatively new, but increasingly popular model of cooperation, which assumes the possibility of joint implementation of projects in a given district by non-governmental organizations and local governments.

Community Service Centres are places where appropriate assistance and comprehensive support can be provided to the inhabitants of the whole district. At the same time, it is an effective response to the problems affecting the most needy - people at risk of poverty and social exclusion, including people with disabilities, families with children with disabilities and dependent people in need of care due to their old age or health condition.

Community Service Centres

The scope of services provided by the centre may include, inter alia:

- assistantship services provided by an assistant for people with disabilities or by a personal assistant for people with disabilities
- residential care services, specialised care services
- daily forms of care services provided by residential institutions (day care and social centres, day clubs, etc.)
- neighbourhood assistance
- assisted housing
- training and practical activities and exchange of experience for actual carers, increasing their competence in caring for dependent persons
- legal services, information, advisory and training services

Community Service Centres

The scope of services provided by the centre may include, inter alia:

- respite care
- hire of rehabilitation equipment for non-self-reliant persons
- transport to the place of supply of services
- meal delivery
- telecare
- family support and foster care system services provided by Social Welfare Centre/District Family Support Centre
- day-care centres for children and youth run in accordance with the Act on Family Support and Foster Care System
- selected health services provided in the local environment

Community Service Centres

In order to create the Centre, a partnership must be established, which includes a given district and at least one municipality in the district and at least one social economy entity.

Since 2017, 14 such entities have been established as a result of already announced competitions.
